Are you confused by the proliferation of labels on your food in recent years? If so, you are not alone. Join us for a lively conversation about some of the most popular labels: organic, non-GMO, regenerative, local, sustainable and any others that pique your curiosity. We will discuss the types of agriculture that these labels represent, and why understanding what they mean matters.

Wednesday, October 18
Doors open at 5 PM
Presentation begins at 6 PM
Galligan's Pub

As always, advanced registration is required.
