

Encore: On the Diplomatic Stage with Shirley Temple Black

What do you do with your life when you win an Oscar at age seven and retire at age twenty-two as a Hollywood legend who uplifted American's spirits during the Great Depression and World War II?

AIL Member Tom Hull will tell how Shirley Temple Black gravitated to a twenty year diplomatic career, including her last act as Ambassador to Czechoslovakia, where he worked closely with her during the fall of communism and the subsequent dissolution into the Czech Republic and Slovakia.
